THE MAYOR'S CORNER

Dear Residents,

Flowers, chocolates, spa treatments, jewelry, or just plain old spending time with a loved one, are great presents to receive on this Valentines Day. With the difficult year that has just passed us, this is a perfect time to remember those we love. I wish you and your loved ones a great Valentines Day.

Having just completed the Presidential election process, I bet that many of us are glad that the long road leading to the final vote is over. Regardless if your candidate won or lost, the fact that we have the right to vote and can transfer power without turmoil is a sign of our country's greatness. With that being said, this year we once again will be voting for two out of the five city council seats. As with the presidential election, it is our responsibility to select those that we would like to represent us at a local level. As a result, should we have a contested seat, it is imperative that you remember to vote on March 10th. It's your right! Exercise it!

I am glad to report that the cities affairs are in great order. Despite the tight budget we are operating under, we are doing well and are right where we need to be in order to maintain a stable and fiscally sound operation. Through the hard work of your council members, and the unwavering support and efforts of our city staff, we look forward to this continued stability as we enter our spring and summer months. As I frequently do, I again ask for your participation at your city council meetings. It is really great to see new faces at these meetings, as well as to address any concerns that may be brought up, but it is also encouraging to see that, residents of our city are taking an interest in the municipal process. So if you can't come to all the meetings, just come to one when you can. Council meetings are held on the third Wednesday of every month at 7:30 pm in the City Hall Chambers. I look forward to seeing you there!

Last, I regret to inform you that our City Clerk, Joan Cannata-Fox, has decided to retire at her very young age. Joan has been an incredible asset to our city and will surely be missed, and very difficult to replace. Her tenacious spirit and desire to do all she can for our city will be remembered and has been greatly appreciated. Joan, thank you for your many years of dedicated service to the residents of our great city. We wish you well!

Serving Proudly,

Mayor Manny Fernandez

MATURE DRIVER'S CLASS MARCH 24TH AND 25TH

The state of Florida mandates an insurance discount for licensed drivers 55 or older who complete a state approved driver improvement course. Coaching the Mature Driver qualifies for this discount.

This six hour classroom course has been developed especially for the senior experienced driver. It reviews basic driving techniques and introduces techniques to help offset the effects of having a crash while driving.

Coaching the Mature Driver combines lecture with discussion and video in a lively and informative format.

Reaction time, hearing and vision are often significantly affected by the aging process. Florida also has its particular problems - this course presents alternatives that will help you avoid a crash!

ATLANTIS CITY COUNCIL NEWS:

The Council meeting was called to order on January 18, 2009 at 7:30 PM.

Resolution 09-01—Appointing the Supervisor of Elections to the Atlantis Canvassing Board, passed 5-0. This allows the Supervisor of Elections to canvass all absentee ballots, plus canvass the municipal election, and conduct the Logic & Accuracy testing for all election machinery.

Resolution 09-02—Authorizing the Mayor to Sign an Agreement with Zambelli Fireworks for the 50th Anniversary, passed 5-0 with the provision that a termination clause be added to the contract if possible.

Resolution 09-03, 09-04, 09-05, and 09-06 Assessing a Lien for Unpaid Water Charges, all passed 5-0. These properties are not in Atlantis, but within our water service district.

Miscellaneous Business: Presentation of the City audit by Holyfield and Thomas. They gave Atlantis a “clean report” which is the best possible. They commented that it was good we took a conservative posture towards the future due to current economic conditions. Atlantis had no deficiencies, making us to be labeled “Most Honorable”. Our Council, City Manager and staff deserve a bow for keeping Atlantis financially A-1. Their report was accepted by Council 5-0.

Council voted 5-0 to send a letter to the Police Pension board to encourage them to immediately approve an actuarial study, so as to help give future guidance.

It was reported that the Bookmobile will no longer be coming to Atlantis once the new branch library on Lawrence and Lantana Roads opens in spring. It should be a wonderful local addition.

POLICE DEPARTMENT NEWS by CHIEF ROBERT G. MANGOLD

Safety Reminder: The police department recently received a request from a resident to remind the community about the “rules of the road” for pedestrians, bicyclists, and motorists; therefore, we are reprinting an article from several years ago.

Periodically the police department deals with calls regarding conflicts between motorists and pedestrians over the use of the roadways. The city does not have sidewalks, and therefore residents use city streets for walking, jogging, bicycling, etc. It behooves all users, motorists, bicyclists, and pedestrians, to respect each other’s rights regarding the roadways and amicably share the streets. Motorists that ignore pedestrians and cyclists rights to the roadways prevent other residents from enjoying these recreational pastimes and endanger adults and children alike. Conversely, pedestrians and cyclists that obstruct motorists by walking and bicycling two and three abreast, failing to move to the side of the road when approached by vehicular traffic, violate state laws and endanger themselves and provoke motorists.

All pedestrians, by state statute, must walk only on the shoulder of the roadway, facing oncoming traffic. This law affects the ability of a family or group of people to take a leisurely walk together and because of that it is not strictly enforced. However, pedestrians must move to the shoulder of the road, yielding the right-of-way, when vehicles draw near; this will give motorists sufficient room to safely pass pedestrians. Bicyclists must travel with the flow of traffic and ride in single file when traffic is present. Motorists must use due care and exercise proper precaution, such as slowing down and giving pedestrians, cyclists, etc. as wide a berth as possible when passing them.

It's our birthday, and we're having a party!

It's all happening on Saturday, April 4! We'll start with a parade, followed by a brief program and a buffet dinner. There will be games for the kids, and we'll end our party with a fireworks display. Next month's issue of City News will have all the details for you—what's happening when and where, as well as information about transportation (Molly the Trolley's coming to our party!), and parking.

In addition to the special events on April 4, we have anniversary souvenirs, too! They all have the City of Atlantis logo and will be for sale and distribution at City Hall from March 9 -20.

MANAGER'S NOTES:

We have been notified by Palm Beach County that once the Lantana Road Branch of the Library opens in the spring, we will no longer enjoy the services of the weekly Bookmobile. This is a longstanding service that has been enjoyed by our residents. The new branch is conveniently located on Lantana Road at Lawrence Road. However, if you currently use the bookmobile and will not be able to visit the new branch, I would like to hear from you. We would like find a way to minimize the impact to the readers in Atlantis. The Library has services available such as Books by Mail and other web-based services. We want to make sure our readers are able to continue to enjoy this pastime. Call me at 561-965-1744. You may also want to drop a note to the County Commissioner Shelley Vana and let her know how important this service is to you. Her address is PO Box 1989, West Palm Beach, FL 33402-1989.

As you can see in other areas of the newsletter, planning for the 50th Anniversary Celebration is well underway. We have lots of fun activities planned, and we would really like to know who is coming to our party. Please reserve your wristbands ahead of time. You will be able to pick them up in mid-March and purchase the neat souvenirs we will have available. Don't get caught in the crowd on event day waiting to get in. Reserve your spot now!

We will have some classic cars in our parade. If you have a classic and would like to be in the parade, please let me know. We will have a parade meeting in mid march.

We want to make this event memorable to the entire community. If you have a family member that won't be able to join the fun, you can purchase a wristband for a "to go" meal. Just let us know when you reserve your bands. Also, if you will need assistance on event day to enjoy the party let us know ahead of time. Call me at 965-1744.

FOR YOUR INFORMATION ...

- Decals and Directories...and License Plates! It's that time of year... we are distributing auto decals and the new City Directory. But this year's a bit different—we're celebrating our city's 50th Anniversary, and we've purchased commemorative license plates in honor of the occasion! We'll have them available for purchase ($5) so we can get in the spirit early in the year. City directories and 2009 decals for your vehicles will be available in the Police Department 24/7. To obtain a decal, you will need your current registration for each vehicle. Please be patient with the dispatchers, they are doing their best.
- As you hold your Homeowner Association meetings, please provide City Hall with a list of the officers even if they are the same as last year. This information is very important to City Hall and our residents. Thank you for your cooperation.

Ficus Whitefly and Other Thoughts

Councilman Mike Dahlgren

From my perspective, it seems as though many of our residents have not only attacked the Ficus Whitefly but seem to be winning the battle. My congratulations on your efforts, not to mention your expense! Commercial applicators seem to be doing a good job and the follow-up will be the deciding factor. Where there have been control problems, it appears that it can be attributed to lack of water. No matter who treats or how treatment is applied it can't be successful without adequate water. Some commercial applicators have injected a liquid form into the root zone making some think additional watering is not necessary. No matter how the chemical is applied, it must be moved into the root zone before it can be taken up into the plant. Water is essential for this to occur. There are exemptions from Water Restrictions for chemical application. Ask you applicator.

Please remember the point about the chemical being translocated upward in the plants. Plants other than Ficus will also take it up. Blooming plants have the potential of moving the chemicals into the flowers where they could affect butterflies and bees. Be careful of edible plants growing close to treated Ficus. Your herbs or citrus could have taken up the chemicals. Ask your applicator to assess your situation if you are in doubt.

People have asked me to add suggested substitutes for Ficus in future articles. I have refrained from any recommendations as personal tastes are as varied as the material available. I would strongly suggest that you check out the Web for good ideas. I have found that Miami-Dade has some extremely useful information on their site, with links to others. The address is: http://miami-dade.ifas.ufl.edu/Pests_HT.shtml. In the center column, the second item is "alternatives to Ficus". Click on it and a helpful publication is accessible in PDF format. If you have a problem, stop by City Hall. They will be glad to see you and can help you get the information.

One of the main issues in choosing alternatives is adaptability and suitability. There are numerous people (organizations) that promote using natives. I agree that natives are often a good choice. I do not believe that they are the only one. Think about "native" Florida where these plants developed. Today's estimated 30,000 miles of drainage and diversion have greatly changed the environment. Many natives require more attention and care than non-natives. The chance of future problems for natives is probably just as great as non-natives. Ficus did just fine until the Whitefly was introduced. The same could happen to natives should too few species become widely planted. There are many different tastes (suitability) and many different plants (adaptability) available. I believe a good example is the success of the Palm Cottage Gardens near Orlando. Dr. Nehrling developed this around 1900. Yes, before automatic irrigation and modern chemicals and fertilizers. In addition Dr. Nehrling's gardens became home to the first USDA experiment station in Florida. Plants introduced such as Indian hawthorne, bamboo, azalea and camellia were found to be suitable and adaptable to the rhythm of the Florida seasonal rainfall. The gardens website is: www.nehrlinggardens.org.

Water is going to be an ongoing item in the landscape. Estimates are that Florida currently has about 4 million acres of residential and commercial lawns. A tremendous amount of water is required to maintain these to any current standard. We receive about 50 inches of rain each year, however only 13 inches are added back to the underground aquifer. Over and inefficient watering are major problems. It is estimated by the St. Johns River Water Management District that Central Florida will outstrip the ability to provide a sustainable water supply beyond 2013. New water guidelines are proposed and are coming soon. The Saint Johns District will be the first, but all Water Management Districts will be adopting new rules. The first scheduled to go into effect in March 2009 include watering twice a week during Daylight Savings Time and once a week during Eastern Standard Time. No more than $\frac{3}{4}$ " could be applied by any irrigation zone and no more than 1 hour run time on any zone. Our old habits and procedures are changing. Water use is projected to increase 10% each year nationwide. Changes must be made now to accommodate these demands. Florida projects to double to 36 million people by 2060. Current usage levels of 160 gallons per person per day (half for irrigation) cannot be sustained throughout that growth. Don't you agree change must (will) occur?

We have the tools to begin this process. The Water Management Districts are going to insist that we do. For instance, there is no restriction on micro-irrigation in any of the current proposals. Many local ordinances are now allowing rain barrels. I believe that our seasonal residents will find a new set of guidelines in place before their next visit. Be prepared and aware of change is the only advice I can give at this point.

Thanks to all for their comments and support. We all love our City; it's ambience, and hopefully its willingness to adopt necessary changes.

Here are a resident's suggestions to the Whitefly crisis:

The one thing residents can DO is replace their diseased ficus hedges with native plants that are pest free, need little or no water once established and it's not all that expensive, even if they want to do a little at a time. If they want to buy in bulk it will be a lot LESS expensive. Two excellent replacements are Jamaica Caper & Red-tipped Cocoplum, both natives, extremely drought tolerant once established & they both FLOWER & FRUIT - they are fast-growing, make dense hedges and the birds just love the fruit.

So, replacing Ficus saves water, and benefits the environment - we are, after all, a 'Bird Sanctuary'.

I'd suggest that people plant a new hedge of either Caper or Coco Plum next to their existing Ficus hedges and as the new hedges grow (quite quickly!), they can cut back & ultimately remove the old Ficus hedge. That way, they won't sacrifice their privacy while the new hedge is filling in.

Anybody interested in seeing these plants as mature hedges are welcome to stop by - I have both in my yard at 512 Muirfield Drive; and I'll be happy to refer you to nurseries.
